Spying Done Despite Objections By Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secret White House plan to spy on domestic radicals, rejected once at the insistence of former FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, later was put at least partially into practice, say sources close to the Watergate investigation.

Two sources, one of whom said he had seen the plan, described it as providing for an undercover team made up of representatives of various federal agencies who had access to "virtually all agencies of government."

They said the secret agents intercepted mail, tapped telephones, audited income-tax returns and planted informers.

The top-secret text of the plan was locked in a safe-deposit box by ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III and later turned over to a federal judge.

There were additional Watergate developments Tuesday concerning the CIA's link to the case and on the subject of possible testimony by President Nixon on Watergate.

Gen. Robert E. Cushman, former deputy CIA director, said he was "put upon" by Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt when he agreed to give Hunt aid which was used subsequently in the burglary at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said it would be "constitutionally inappropriate" for the President to testify before the grand jury or Senate Watergate investigators.

Asked about the domestic-intelligence plan, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald Warren would not go beyond a lengthy statement in which Nixon last week discussed the Watergate scandal.

In that statement, Nixon said he had withdrawn a plan to spy on radicals in July 1970 after Hoover objected to it.

An Intelligence Evaluation Committee was established the following December "to improve coordination among the intelligence community and to prepare evaluations and estimates of domestic intelligence," Nixon said.

The sources said they couldn't confirm whether or how long the group performed that function. But it soon became "a cover for a secret police operation," the sources said.

"They were using the national-security plan that Hoover objected to," one source said. "That was the blueprint. They had copies of it and apparently understood their actions were authorized. It was just like Watergate."

Convicted Watergate burglars

James W. McCord Jr. and Bernard L. Barker have testified they believed the break-in at the Democratic headquarters had been approved by top Nixon aides and therefore was legal.

The Ellsberg break-in was the subject of Cushman's testimony before a county grand jury in Los Angeles.

Cushman, now commandant of the Marine Corps, told newsmen after the session that he doesn't blame former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman for involving the CIA in the Ellsberg break-in. "I don't know whether he knew what Mr. Hunt was doing or not."

He said he feels Hunt had violated a trust. "I certainly think I was put upon ... by Mr. Hunt," Cushman said. "When Mr. Hunt came to call, he said the White House had sent him," Cushman said.

Cushman said Ehrlichman did not mention Nixon when requesting aid from the CIA for Hunt.

"I knew his position. He didn't have to mention anything," Cushman said.

The former deputy CIA director said he would have provided no help if the name of Ellsberg had been mentioned in his discussions with Hunt or Ehrlichman.

Charges against Ellsberg, who admitted releasing the Pentagon papers to the news media, were dropped earlier this month because of government misconduct, including the break-in.

Hunt has said that disguises, false identification papers, a wig and a secret camera, all provided by the CIA, were used in connection with the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Asked if Nixon had any role in the Ellsberg burglary, Cushman said, "I have no idea whether he approved it or even knew about it."

In other Watergate developments:

—Hunt has written his memoirs in which he says he urged the CIA to have Cuban Premier Fidel Castro assassinated in 1961. David Franke, senior editor of Arlington House, the publishers, said the firm is trying to advance appearance of the book ahead of the planned November publication.

Hunt, in the book entitled "Give Us This Day: The CIA and the Bay of Pigs," did not say what government reaction was to his suggestion that Castro be killed.

—Henry A. Kissinger said his office supplied the names of Kissinger aides whose phones were to be tapped in an investigation of news leaks. The President's assistant for national-security added, "I don't find wiretapping a particularly attractive procedure."

Claim 5 POWs Sought Asylum In North Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says five U.S. soldiers accused of aiding the enemy while war prisoners allegedly sought political asylum from North Vietnamese military officials.

Two of them, Army Sgts. Robert P. Chenoweth of Portland, Ore., and John A. Young of Grayslake, Ill., allegedly cooperated with their captors "by constructing model aircraft for use by the North Vietnamese army in conducting target practice for their soldiers," at the POW camp, the Army said.

These skimpy details were gleaned from an Army summary made available late Tuesday after Air Force Col. Theodore W. Guy of Tucson, Ariz., formally charged the five Army enlisted men and three enlisted Marines with misconduct while under his command in a Hanoi POW compound known as The Plantation.

Meanwhile, it was uncertain how long it would take the Army and Marine Corps to decide whether the eight should be court-martialed.

The Army summary, only a little more than a page, included no specifics bearing on Guy's recent public statement that some POWs caused him and other Americans to be beaten and tortured by the North Vietnamese for establishing communication links among U.S. prisoners.

The Marine Corps did not provide any specifics on Guy's charges against the three Marine POWs, who, like the Army men, were accused of aiding the enemy, failing to obey orders and conspiracy.

The Marines located their three men within a few hours and gave them formal notice about the charges. But the Army still had not confirmed contact with their five former POWs by Tuesday evening.

A spokesman said the Army had been in touch with relatives of all five and that it had no reason to expect any serious difficulty in serving the papers. The five soldiers are on convalescent leave and are free to move around. At least a couple of them were reported traveling.

In addition to Chenoweth, 25, and Young, 27, the accused Army repatriates are Spec. 4 Michael P. Branch, 26, of Highland Heights, Ky.; S.Sgt. James A. Daly Jr., 25, Brooklyn, N.Y., and S.Sgt. King D. Rayford, 27, of Chicago.

The Marines are S.Sgt. Alfonso Riate, 28, of Santa Rosa, Calif.; Sgt. Abel L. Kavanaugh, 24, Denver, Colo. and Pvt. Frederick L. Elbert Jr., 25, Brentwood, N.Y.

The eight, held captive at least five years each, previously had been linked to antiwar statements and messages.

Cooler Air Pushes Way Into Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unseasonably cool weather accompanied by frost in some places, chilled the north-central states today as the violent storms of the previous five days subsided.

Temperatures dropped to the low 30s in Upper Michigan and frost nipped scattered areas of the northern Great Lakes region. Across the north-central states, readings in the middle and lower 40s were common overnight.

Rain dampened Denver and Detroit and light drizzle sprinkled the Chicago area, but amounts were light.

Unstable conditions in the Southeast diminished following an evening of isolated heavy thunderstorms along the south Atlantic coast.

Winds hit 60 miles per hour Tuesday at Beaufort, S.C., and several tornadoes were sighted from northern Florida and Georgia into the eastern Carolinas.

Weather

Variable cloudiness. Chance of showers continuing tonight and tomorrow. High today near 70, low tonight near 50. Partly cloudy and a little warmer Thursday, high in the mid 70s. Thirty per cent chance of rain today and tonight, 20 per cent tomorrow.

Senate Panel Pushes Budget Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A newly-named Senate subcommittee studying the administration's $9.9 billion appropriations bill is expected to finish work in about 10 days, the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee said. Chairman Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, named the panel Tuesday as his committee finished hearing testimony that began on the House-approved bill six weeks ago. The budget passed the Democrat-controlled House 56-39 April 18.

Besides Dennis, the other members of the subcommittee are Sens. Howard C. Cook, R-1 Toledo, Paul Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, Oliver Ocasak, D-27 Akron, and Robert T. Secrest, D-20 Cambridge. The 3-2 Republican edge reflects the 17-16 GOP control of the upper chamber.

In other developments, a Senate-House conference committee considering a state lottery commission bill met briefly and reported no change in the political deadlock growing out of voter approval May 8 for a state lottery.

The dispute centers about Republican insistence that the proceeds from a lottery be set aside for property tax relief and Democratic contentions that earmarking the funds would be unconstitutional.

Rep. Joseph P. Tulley, R-59 Mentor, who represents the GOP House minority on the conference committee, said he had been instructed to vote against the commission proposal if Republicans demands are not met.

House Majority Floor Leader Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, asserted that earmarking the funds would be unconstitutional.

unconstitutional because the amendment approved by voters stated that the proceeds would go unearmarked into the state's general revenue fund. Tulley maintains it can be done indirectly.

The conference committee plans to meet again Wednesday, although Quilter said "I don't think it will do any good." The bill at hand would set up a lottery commission to plan the lottery. The legislature would still have to act on the commission proposal.

Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, the lottery's prime sponsor, reiterated his concern that the impasse may delay the creation of a lottery for a year, and that the state could lose $20 million in revenue from Ohioans buying tickets in neighboring states.

"If the commission was named by August, it would be November before it reported back. We still would have to pass a bill to implement," Mottl said. The Parma Democrat still is considering going ahead and introducing a bill to create a lottery, bypassing the idea of a commission, he said.

During an hour-long floor session, the House approved two bills and sent them to the Senate.

They included one that allows county fair boards to authorize the sale of alcoholic beverages on fairgrounds when fairs are not in session. The vote was 58-28, but no one spoke in opposition. The same measure passed the House at the last session, but died in the Senate.

By a vote of 80-6, the House approved a bill that authorizes sale of state land in Akron to Summit County commissioners for $575,000. Sponsors said the land, now the site of a National Guard armory, is sought by commissioners for expansion of county offices. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Senators approved a House bill that prohibits auto dealers from attaching plates frames advertising their businesses on cars sold by them if holes are drilled into the car. The bill sets penalties for violators who drill the holes without the purchaser's written permission—a fine of $100 for the first offense and from $100 to $1,000 for subsequent offenses.

Passed by the Senate and sent to the House were measures authorizing sale of 14 acres of Division of Wildlife land in Defiance County to Defiance, and authorizing transfer of the original Ohio Constitution and other historical documents from the secretary of state's office to the Ohio Historical Society.

Skylab Crew Sets Resources Observations From Station

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab's astronauts today plan man's first orbital observations of crops, weather, mineral deposits and volcanoes in a strip of earth ranging from Oregon to Brazil.

What they and subsequent Skylab crews learn of earth's resources could have a vital bearing on how the world manages them in the decades ahead.

Charles Conrad Jr. and Paul J. Weitz planned to turn on a package of photosensors in the afternoon after a morning of continuing medical and solar observatory experiments.

They are in the sixth of a scheduled 28 days in space.

Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin was scheduled for several hours at the controls of a battery of eight telescopes, whose views of the sun Tuesday were described by scientists as "completely satisfactory."

Experts reported television images relayed to earth showed "details previously unresolved" by earth or unmanned satellite observations. They hope the months of study will disclose secrets of the sun's thermonuclear energy and how it controls our solar system.

Ground controllers, meanwhile, said they had miscalculated earlier when they said that a makeshift sun shield erected by the astronauts would cause temperatures in Skylab to drop into the low 70s and level off. They had averaged an unlivable 125 degrees as a result of the loss of a heat shield during a launch mishap May 14.

"It now appears that less than 10 per cent of the shield is doing its job, so we feel the temperatures will now stable out near 80 rather than 70," mission control told the astronauts Tuesday evening.

"I know just where that 10 per cent is," commander Conrad replied. "You can tell by the increased heat as you rub your hands along the wall."

The 22-foot by 24-foot sunshade wrinkled slightly and did not unfurl fully.

Conrad said the astronauts could operate effectively in the 80-degree temperature. But flight surgeons said they might have to slightly curtail exercising for medical purposes on a bicycle device because of the strenuous work involved.

Because of the heat, controllers are considering erecting one of the two backup sunshades that the astronauts carried along. Both would require space walks, and deployment may wait until near the end of the mission, looking ahead to visits from the Skylab 2 and 3 crews.

$1.7 Million Lawsuits Filed In Bus Crash

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Lawsuits totaling $1.7 million have been filed against Continental Trailways, Inc., and associates in federal District Court, charging the company with negligence in a 1972 bus accident.

Four persons were killed and a number injured when a chartered bus skidded off the Pennsylvania Turnpike in a rainstorm. The bus had been returning a Cleveland church group from a sight-seeing trip to Philadelphia.

The Viet Cong also filed few cease-fire complaints, with the result that 95 per cent of the commission's investigations were of charges by the Saigon government. Yet the commission's field teams reported obvious violations of the ceasefire by the Saigon forces that were not being reported.

One Canadian officer lamented in Qui Nhon: "We know only a tiny percentage of what is going on here."

Canada Pulls Out, Sees More Viet War

SAIGON (AP) — Canada has pulled out of the four-nation Vietnam peacekeeping force because it is convinced North and South Vietnam cannot be stayed from a return to full-scale warfare.

The Canadian assessment is that the weakness of the ceasefire agreement, the uncooperativeness of the Hungarian and Polish members of the ceasefire commission and the attitudes of both Vietnamese sides must lead inevitably to renewed war.

Senior Canadians in Saigon say it has become more and more apparent that the Vietnamese sides are drifting toward a "fatal acceptance" of a military rather than a political solution to their differences.

These Canadians even offered a war timetable recently. The Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese are now in a position to mount limited offensive operations, they said. By the end of the monsoons in October, the Communist side probably will be able to mount an offensive on the same scale as the massive offensive in the spring of 1972, the Canadians estimated.

It was just this sort of eventuality that the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision was sent to Vietnam in February to prevent. Canada's throwing in the towel seriously weakens the peacekeeping force's potential, most observers here feel.

U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger reportedly has laid the groundwork for a tighter peace agreement in his recent talks in Paris with Le Duc Tho of the Hanoi Politburo. But reports of progress in these talks were not enough to convince the Canadian government that it would be useful to keep its people in Vietnam.

From the beginning, the Canadians were unhappy about their mission.

"This will have to be the last time Canada enters into this sort of thing without having a say in the writing of the peace agreement," one Canadian officer in the field commented.

A senior Canadian in Vietnam charged recently that the U.S. government had "betrayed" Canada by leading it to believe that "secret accords" with Moscow and Peking guaranteed that the vague provisions of the ceasefire agreement would be kept, particularly that there would be no Communist military buildup.

Other major problems developed. The Viet Cong withdrew its field representatives because of demonstrations against them that the government staged in Hue, Da Nang and other areas. There are now no VC personnel with the commission outside Saigon.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved sharply lower today in response to negative economic news.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 7.98 at 917.59, while declines outstripped advances on the New York Stock Exchange by about 8 to 3.

Analysts said pressure on the U.S. dollar, the government report that economic indicators were down in April for the first time in 2½ years, and Watergate worries were acting as a drag on the market.

Volume leader on the Big Board was American Telephone warrants, down ¼ to 6.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index at noon was off .41 to 56.39, while the Big Board index was off .05 at 22.73.

Deaths

MR. ORVILLE V. DELONG

Mr. Orville V. Delong, 61, of 465 Stella Ave., died 11:45 p.m. Tuesday at Berger Hospital.

He was a member of Emanuel United Methodist Church and a veteran of World War II.

Born Oct. 1, 1911 in Ross County, he was the son of Cyrus Merkle and Hazel Miller Delong.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Martha Boden Delong; two sons, Phillip, Portland Oregon; David, 1775 Chippewa Drive, Circleville; three daughters, Mrs. Jean Wilson, Chillicothe; Mrs. Mary Ann Gates, Chicago, Ill.; Brenda, of the home; two step-sons, Edward Wright, Hattiesburg, Miss.; George Wright, Glynnco, Ga.; 16 grandchildren; six brothers, Albert, Columbus; Charles, Chillicothe; Ralph, Pataskala; Cyrus, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Lloyd, West Union; Roger, Columbus; one sister, Mrs. Jess (Marsalette) Accord, El Paso, Texas.

The funeral service will be 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Emanuel United Methodist Church with the Rev. Spencer Groff and the Rev. L. S. Metzler officiating. Burial will be in Floral Hills Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Defenbaugh-Wise-McCain Funeral Home beginning 7 p.m. Thursday.

MR. ROBERT M. REYNOLDS

Mr. Robert M. Reynolds, 65, Laureville, died Tuesday at Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital.

Born 1908 in Laurelville, he was the son of Freland and Ella Strawser Reynolds.

He is survived by a brother, Charles Reynolds of Laurelville.

A graveside service will be held 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Forest Cemetery with the Rev. Eugene Flowers officiating. Arrangements are under the direction of Defenbaugh-Wise-McCain Funeral Home.

MRS. MARTHA RADEBAUGH

Mrs. Martha Radebaugh, 84, Columbus, died Tuesday morning at Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

Born Oct. 7, 1888 in Stoutsville, she was the daughter of Archibald and Cora Julian Drake.

Her husband Thomas S. Radebaugh preceded her in death.

Surviving are two sisters, Lena Huffer, Stoutsville, and Mrs. Harold Conrad, Walnut St.

She was a member of the North United Methodist Church, Columbus.

Services will be 10 a.m. Friday at the Rutherford Funeral Home, N. High St., Columbus, with Rev. Howard Buckley officiating. Burial will be in Union Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Thursday.

Richard Gerhardt and representatives of the Pickaway County Regional Planning Commission to discuss applying subdivision regulations to parcels of land of 5.0 acres or more.

The Ohio Revised Code presently exempts parcels of land of 5.0 acres or more from being subject to county regulations.

Consequently developers are selling the larger lots and in many cases these lots are unsuitable for building sites.

An example of a development which is undesirable exists in the county. The lots are over five acres, have a comparatively narrow frontage and are very long.

The Regional Planning Commission pointed out that such exceedingly long narrow lots will result in homeowner conflicts over fencing and maintenance of the land. The longest of the lots in the development is 1,619 feet and the only place suitable for a septic tank is at the rear of the lot.

The homeowner is forced to either build at the rear or have a very long sewer line to the septic tank. Ned Harden, chairman of the regional planning commission, and P. R. Steele, consultant, were present for the discussion.

In other action Tuesday commissioners named Dr. Ray Carroll to the Bolton Airfield Zoning Board of Appeals. He replaces Dr. E. W. Hedges who recently resigned. Carroll's appointment is until May 27, 1976.

Commissioners discussed a request to have a 4-way stop placed at the intersection of the Circleville-Winchester and Ashville Fairfield Road but took no action. They also requested County Engineer Henry McCrady to study the need for speed limit at Era. A petition from residents of the area requesting the speed limit was accepted by commissioners yesterday.

Authorization was given to McCrady to employ Champion Bridge Co. of Wilmington to repair structural steel of the Red River Bridge on the Circleville Commercial Point Road and to replace a bridge structure on the Thompson Road in Deercreek Twp.

Commissioners present were Wayne Hines, Fick T. Tootle and L. Robert Liston.

A Page Of Opinion

Volunteers Lagging

It was unfortunate that the all-volunteer Army concept finally was put into effect just at the peak of public resentment against the Vietnam War. Some of that resentment was directed toward the military, in a case of mistaken identity. The planning was by civilian policy and decision-makers, not the military.

Nevertheless, something of a backlash against the military did develop, especially among young people, and it is hampering the success of the volunteer concept. The General Accounting Office doubts the services can reach the goal of all-volunteer services by next year.

The GAO estimates the military will fall between 11,000 and 83,000 short of the men needed to reach that goal, unless the services relax their standards and accept recruits from the lowest category of mentally acceptable applicants.

Only in one of the last 40 months has the Army achieved its goal of 70 per cent high school graduates among voluntary enlistees. Similar failures have been recorded by the Marines and the Navy. New bonus plans and other recent inducements may improve the picture somewhat. But the services are only a little more than a month away from the start of the year in which voluntarism was to become the sole recruiting tool.

Filling the officer ranks has been no problem. The shortages are almost all in the enlisted grades.

Britain's Oil Find

The North Sea oil rush of 1973 is not quite like the American gold rush of 1849, but the results could be more lasting. Just at the time the energy crunch begins to be felt in the Western world, the discovery of large but as yet unestimated reserves of both oil and gas in Britain's back yard is a welcome development.

It will be some time before fuel in sizable quantity is extracted from the North Sea field. Although 250 test wells have been drilled off the coast of Scotland, the first commercial flow is not expected until the middle of next year.

A production of one million barrels a day by 1975 is the current target. That literally is a drop in the bucket compared to some projections of the wealth discovered so far. One of a dozen or more oil reserves located is estimated to contain two billion barrels.

British gas consumption could double. While the discovery is a major one, the extraction is going to be costly. The depth of the North Sea and the heavy gales which sweep the area already have caused millions of dollars in damage to equipment.

The eventual cost of extraction could be 20 times the cost in the Middle East. Just having oil and gas makes cost a secondary consideration.

Watergate

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Where does Watergate leave the conservatives? Or, for that matter, the liberals? Where does it leave the Republican Party? The answer is that, try as one may, it is impossible to read any ideological implications into the strangest fiasco that has ever involved the American Presidency.

This, in itself, may provide the moral of the tale. The right wing of the Republican Party, personified by Senators Barry Goldwater, John Tower and Strom Thurmond, accepted Richard Nixon in 1968 on a "fuate de mieux" (for lack of something better) basis. For a time it looked as though Nixon would favor the ideological group that had enabled him to win the nomination. A small group of dedicated conservatives—Pat Buchanan, Martin Anderson, John Sears, Richard Walen, Roger Freeman, William Gavin, Jeffrey Bell, Alan Greenspan, Richard Allen—worked themselves to the bone to nominate and elect a man who was, essentially, a pragmatist, not a "movement" hero.

There were, of course, some liberals in the original Nixon entourage. The names of William Safire, Ray Price and Len Garmet come to mind, with Pat Moynihan, author of the Family Assistance Plan, a later addition.

What stands out in the Watergate investigation is that no "movement" people, whether of the Left or the Right, seem to have had much to do with it. By the time the bugging and spying operations went into effect, the conservatives, with the exception of Pat Buchanan, who has not been implicated in the scandal, had left the White House. The liberals who remained on deck, such as Price and Garmet, were innocent enough of any projected skulduggery. What had happened was that the philosophical neutrals, the technocrats whose one object was to protect their leader, had taken over all the effective administrative controls. Bob Haldeman and John Ehrlichman stood quite apart from the groups that had joined the Nixon caravan with hopes that their ideas about government and society might prevail.

It is true, of course, that some of the Watergate operatives—McCord, Hunt, the various subsidiary Cubans—may have been motivated by a misguided conception of patriotism. They may have thought they were bound to turn up evidence of foreign manipulation of the American electoral process. But when it came to the "coverup" of Watergate, which is the truly reprehensible thing about it, patriotism had less to do with the case than the question of the continuation of a group in power. Watergate is not an American Dreyfus case; it does not split the country down the middle ideologically. It can hardly touch the conservative Republican Senators—Gurney of Florida, Dominick of Colorado, Dole of Kansas, Cotton of New Hampshire, Goldwater of Arizona—who are up for re-election at the mid-term. Again, only the philosophical neutrals have been hurt by the scandal.

To the extent that Nixon himself is a philosophical neutral, Watergate must affect the Presidency. But if Nixon can prove that Watergate was no part of his own design, the day is not lost for him. For better or worse, Nixon and his man, Henry Kissinger, have been engaged in an attempt to establish a world balance of power such as we have not seen since the 19th century. Whether they misjudge the Marxist propensity for using agreements as a cover for ultimately fatal revolutionary intrigue is indeed a good question. But, with Red China and Soviet Russia both in trouble because of severe agricultural crises, Nixon and Kissinger have room to maneuver diplomatically.

Brezhnev is coming to Washington in June despite Watergate for the simple reason that the Soviets must have food and technical help to survive. If Nixon can only make the point that continuity in the White House is a necessity for the rest of his natural term of office if he is to work out a pattern for world peace, the American people will forgive him much. Provided, of course, that he did not personally order the Watergate bugging or organize the coverup that has turned a "caper" into something monstrous.

Long ago, when the Hiss-Chambers case seemed about to fizzle, Richard Nixon, as a self-constituted prosecutor, was saved by the sudden materialization of Whittaker Chambers' famous Pumpkin Papers, which proved there had been a theft of State Department secrets. Could there be a Pumpkin Paper denouement still to come in the Watergate case? It doesn't look as though history were to repeat itself here. Still, one never knows. Just what did the bugged telephone conversations reveal? If the bugging conspirators, working to protect Nixon without his knowledge, really uncovered something, Watergate might finally take one last strange turn. And Nixon would be freed to push his dream of a peaceful international accord.

Ohio 132 Will Close

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Ohio 132 between Amelia and New Richmond will be closed for 10 days beginning today for repairs, the Ohio Department of Transportation announced.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, May 30, the 150th day of 1973. This is Memorial Day. There are 215 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1431, Joan of Arc was burned at the stake in Rouen, France.

On this date:

In 1498, Christopher Columbus sailed from Spain on his third voyage to the New World.

In 1539, the Spanish explorer, Hernando De Soto, landed in Florida.

In 1883, a report that the new Brooklyn Bridge in New York was about to collapse created panic. Six persons on the bridge were trampled to death.

In 1961, the dictator of the Dominican Republic, Rafael Trujillo, was assassinated.

In 1963, the official death toll was put at 10,000 in a windstorm which struck East Pakistan.

In 1967, Nigeria mobilized its army after the West African country's eastern region declared itself an independent state, Biafra.

Ten years ago: The United States and Britain were trying to revive talks with the Soviet Union on a nuclear test ban.

Five years ago: France's President Charles de Gaulle spurned demands that he step down, dissolved Parliament and called for new election.

One year ago: President Nixon made a stopover in Tehran, Iran, on his way home from the Soviet Union.

Today's birthdays: Band leader Benny Goodman is 64. Former Postmaster General James A. Farley is 85.

Thought for today: Employ thy time well if thou meanest to gain leisure — Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790.

Pickaway County crops, pasture land and Victory Gardens took on new life after the finest rain of the season drenched the countryside. Cannons, who had been watching early peas, declared the early morning downpour to be "worth a million dollars."

Relatives and friends of Pickaway County soldiers who were held as prisoners of war in either Germany or Italy were notified that the program announced by the War Production Board permitted them to send cigarettes, cigars, smoking tobacco or chewing tobacco to war prisoners. The plan was worked out by government agencies and the American Red Cross.

Lum and Abner in "2 Weeks to Live" was the feature attraction at the Grand Theatre. A "March of Time" cartoon and newsreel rounded out the bill.

The senior class of Circleville High School presented Maxwell Anderson's play, "The Eve of St. Mark", in the school auditorium. Produced by special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Company, it was the play's first presentation in Ohio by a high school group.

Circleville and Pickaway County housewives who planned to do a large amount of canning were promised by the OPA that there would be sufficient sugar available.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Part of my stomach was removed because I had a severe ulcer. Since the operation I have had sudden episodes of weakness and sweating which leave me totally exhausted.

My doctor calls it a "dumping" effect, and says that with time and treatment it will disappear.

Can you tell me more about this?

Mr. S.F., Tex.

Dear Mr. F.:

You describe so well the condition that your doctor diagnosed as a "dumping" syndrome.

For reasons that are not completely clear, some patients, after the removal of part of their stomach for an ulcer, complain of dizziness, sweating, weakness, and palpitation.

They seem to get some relief when they are lying down.

Some doctors believe that these sensations, which occur about an hour after eating, may be related to a sudden fall in blood sugar (hypoglycemia).

A substance, serotonin, is now suspected as being the cause of this most unpleasant group of symptoms. Serotonin is thought to be released by the body when the small intestine becomes distended.

Patients who suffer from this condition are given a high-protein diet and are advised to eat small amounts of food at more frequent intervals.

There are also some drugs that act against serotonin which are thought to be of value in controlling these episodes of "dumping."

It seems that everyone I know has some kind of emotional problem for which they are given special drugs.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—There are 1,001 things to do today, and there isn't one I want to do.

Not the largest, not the smallest — no, not a single one.

Duty calls but the call falls on deaf ears. The necessary seems needless, the essential palls and becomes trivial. Everything loses its importance.

The common satisfactions that stud the ordinary day seem bland and unappealing.

When life becomes that way, it is time for every soul to declare itself a holiday of its own — a day on which every man on earth is free to do as he pleases, and nothing is required or compulsive.

And if today were such a day, I'd like to — Hold a picnic in the middle of Times Square.

Plant a redwood tree.

Take a Brownie to lunch.

Dance a jig among the stones at Stonehenge.

Spend a day on Pitcairn Island talking to the descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty.

Stroll hand in hand through Hyde Park with Julie Andrews.

Skip rocks in the Mediterranean.

Send a CARE package to H.L. Hunt or Aristotle Onassis.

Judge a beauty contest in Bali and take the winner home as the door prize.

Split a jug of bourbon with artist Thomas Hart Benton in Kansas City.

Eat a sack of popcorn in the Louvre.

Collect a reward for collaring a bank robber.

Find my favorite enemy's name on the FBI's 10 mostwanted list.

Get invited to dinner by the French Chef — Julia Childs.

Go through the Philadelphia Mint and be asked to take home a basketfull of souvenirs.

Isn't it dangerous for these people to rely on these drugs rather than to get psychological help for their problems?

Miss R.L., Ill.

Dear Miss L.:

The last 20 years have brought a revolution in the therapy for mild, moderate, and severe neurotic illness.

Psychotic changes like schizophrenia, too, have benefited from these "psychotropic" drugs.

There are now many variations of the original anti-psychotic drug, chlorpromazine.

Drugs are now available to combat depression. Others can elevate the mood in special ways. Some can tranquilize people under severe emotional stress, and still others can control psychotic episodes.

The drug lithium carbonate has now been greeted with great enthusiasm for the treatment of manic depressive psychosis.

An extraordinary amount of research is constantly being carried out to find new drugs that will help patients during periods of severe emotional upheaval.

Psychotherapy is not being replaced by these drugs. Rather, the drugs are being used to help carry patients through the difficult periods while they learn more about themselves with the help of their therapist.

The promiscuous use of any of these drugs is to be condemned. Trading of pills between friends is a dangerous form of "kindness."

All pills are carefully chosen by the doctor for specific cases, under specific circumstances, and for a specific length of time.

They'll Do It Every Time

Congressman Harsha's Washington Report

The House and Senate Conference Committee on the highway bill has been meeting daily—morning, noon and evening—for approximately two weeks to try to resolve and compromise the differences between the two versions. There were some 75 differences in the House and Senate passed highway bills.

During this two week period of intense negotiation between the House and Senate, the conferees have reached agreement on approximately 74 of the major differences. The only real hang up left is the determination of how the mass transit proposal shall be funded. In the House bill, the mass transit proposal was to be funded out of the general funds; in the Senate bill, the mass transit proposal was to be funded out of the highway trust fund.

Now, the highway trust fund has been set aside, and taxes have been charged to go into this fund by the highway users, so that there would be enough money to build and repair highways as they were needed. There has been the charge that the highway trust fund was inaugurated and instituted and designed solely for the purposes of creating and constructing the interstate system. This is a complete misunderstanding of what the Federal law provides. According to the law, the highway trust fund shall be used first for the construction of the federal-aid highway system, and secondly, if there is money available after that, it shall be used to construct the interstate system. The primary emphasis is on the construction of the federal-aid system which includes the primary and secondary highways across the country, the urban highways on the federal-aid system and such highways that are in the national forests and public lands. Therefore, the idea that the trust fund was created solely for the construction of the interstate system is indeed a misconception.

Other proponents of funding mass transit out of the trust fund argue that there is a large surplus in the trust fund and that this should be used to finance mass transit. This, again, is a fallacy and a result of misinformation. There is no surplus in the trust fund. There is a balance on a given date because highway contracts are awarded over a period of time and they are paid for as work is completed. So, while on a given date there may be a balance in the trust fund because obligations have not become due, obligations have been incurred but are paid on a monthly, six month or other periodic basis. As a matter of fact, there are enough obligations against this trust fund to require the need of one-and-a-half times the money that is available in the trust fund. In any event, there will be less than half the amount necessary in the trust fund just to repair our highways. So, this misapprehension must be straightened out.

The proponents of mass transit also argue that mass transit will go a long way towards relieving air pollution and highway congestion, making highways more amenable to automobile traffic and moving traffic faster. Yet, the Administration, which supports using trust fund monies for mass transit, has conducted a very exhaustive and extensive transportation study which ultimately reached the following conclusion: If large sums of money are diverted from the highway trust fund to mass transit, there will be no appreciable diminution of air pollution and there would be a considerable increase in highway fatalities. So, the argument that mass transit will alleviate the air pollution problem just simply does not hold water when you base it upon the facts and upon the studies that are made by those who are knowledgeable in the field.

Furthermore, I do not believe that anybody would be willing to sacrifice the lives of human beings for some highway travellers. I do not think that is the right priority. I think that if there is any additional money to be used, it should be used first for the saving of lives and secondly for the convenience of the travelling public.

One other outstanding feature of this whole argument is the fact that mass transit has been held out as the panacea of all the ills of highway congestion. Let me point out, however, that the very cities having mass transit facilities are the ones suffering the greatest highway congestion and the greatest air pollution. For example, the cities of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago have had mass transit systems in operation for a number of years. Now, if mass transit is the panacea of all these transportation ills, why is it that these cities with mass transit, have all of the problems attended with highway congestion? I do not believe they can responsibly answer that charge. As a matter of fact, many of the mass transit systems—the great bulk of them—are not even operating in the black. Most of them are operating in the red, and there is some $500 million in operating subsidies or deficiencies this year. Three hundred and fifty million dollars of this amount comes from Boston and New York alone where there is capacity ridership on their mass transit systems.

It appears, therefore, that mass transit is not the panacea of all the ills of highway congestion; however, be that as it may, the House and Senate conferees will meet again in early June and try to work out their remaining differences so that a Federal-aid Highway Act of 1973 ultimately can be passed.

Ohio Constitution Revisions Eyed By Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Constitutional Revision Commission will hold a public hearing June 14 on proposals dealing with the powers and organization of county governments. Amendments recommended by the commission's Local Government Committee would:

—Allow the legislature to recognize four different classes of counties in writing laws and extending limited "home rule" powers to county governments.

—Relax requirements for the adoption of county charters and update provisions for county charter commissions.

—Require that legislative action to change county boundaries be subject to automatic voter referendum.

Red Cross Announces Swim Programs For City, County

The Pickaway County Red Cross announced it will be sponsoring two different swimming programs again this year. One program will be run for Circleville residents and one for the county.

Director of the Circleville program, Drexel Poling, announced that there will be morning and evening programs.

Gasoline Tax Increase Studied By U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said Tuesday the Nixon administration is considering a proposal to raise gasoline taxes.

Shultz, speaking at a news conference for economic reporters, also indicated that the administration has under study other tax-increase proposals to help cool the rapidly expanding economy.

As for the gasoline tax, Shultz said it is "one of the many things we are reviewing all the time."

He said there are pluses and minuses connected with the proposal and stressed that no decision has been made. The federal tax now is four cents a gallon.

The word boss has been used in politics since the 1971 Tweed Ring exposure in New York.

Policemen Claim Cruisers Unsafe

CAMPBELL, Ohio (AP)—Police officers in this community of 13,000 have refused to patrol the town's streets in police cruisers—because they claim the cars are unsafe.

Police Chief William Halase sent each shift of officers home without pay Tuesday after they arrived at work and refused to ride in the vehicles.

Mayor Rocco Mico said two new cruisers had been ordered by the city and should arrive within two weeks.

When you make sandwiches ahead, cover them with a damp cloth and refrigerate them.

40 Year Reunion Held By Jackson High School Class

The Class of 1933 of Jackson Twp. High School held a reunion Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Gladden Troutman. It had been 40 years since the class graduated and it was also the first time a reunion had been held. There were 12 members in the class and only one deceased in this length of time.

The dining room table was decorated with blue candles in silver holders, representing the class colors. A large white cake decorated with pink tea roses was placed in the center of the table. The tea rose was the class flower and the motto was "After Clouds The Sunshine."

The evening was spent looking over class pictures and articles in various scrap books. Members had pictures of the first, eighth, and senior years. Reminiscing was also enjoyed at the gathering. Group pictures were taken of those present.

As the guests arrived the hostess served punch with assorted snacks. Later in the evening finger sandwiches, relish plate, cheese balls, cake and coffee were served.

The following class members were present for the occasion: Mrs. Pearl Fausnaugh Fortner, Mrs. Gladys Peters Valentine, Mrs. Ruth James Hurley, Mrs. Eleanor Anderson Stocklin, Festus Walters, Francis Clark and the hostess Mrs. Roma Melvin Troutman.

Guests were Loring Valentine, William Fortner, Austin Hurley, Miss Mary Clark, Mrs. Festus Walters and Gladden Troutman.

Mrs. Caroline Rowe Rund from Columbus was unable to attend but called and extended her good wishes. Also a note was read from Mrs. Betty Fischer Lutz of Chaffield who was unable to be present.

Belinda Jane Didn't Hush

LONDON (AP) — Belinda-Jane Blakeney spoiled things at a fund-raising "hush-in" at Thomas Bourne School, Berkhamstead, near London, when she politely said "thank you" for a drink. The youngsters were not supposed to speak, and they had "sponsors" who promised charity contributions that would be bigger the longer the children remained silent.

Well wishers sent in more than $120 when they read of the incident.

Touristry Optimism

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — South Africa should be attracting at least one million tourists a year by the late 1970s, the government tourist corporation reported. There were 459,478 tourists in 1971.

Homemaker Of The Year Search Begins In County

Two homemakers will be selected to represent Pickaway County Fair at the Ohio State Fair for the Ohio State Homemaker of 1973.

Any homemaker of Pickaway County or Circleville Shopping area who participated in any way, exhibitor, worker, 4-H leader etc., in the 1972 Pickaway County Fair may be nominated by each individual club, organization or group.

Entries must be made on an official form obtainable by sending a stamped, self-addressed long envelope to Mrs.

Donald Wolford, 235 Cedar Heights Road, Circleville, Ohio 43113, postmarked July 1st or before.

Four finalists will be chosen by the judges and interviewed at 2 p.m. July 12th at the L-K Restaurant, Route 23, south of Circleville.

The county homemakers will be announced Aug. 2nd at the County Fair and will both receive an award donated by the Second National Bank. At the same time both runners-up will receive a gift certificate donated by the L-K Restaurant.

The top 10 nominees in the state and one companion will be invited to a breakfast at the State Fair on Aug. 23rd. The final judging, a personal interview, will be held at this time. The winner will be announced 1 p.m. Aug. 25th in the Arts and Crafts building. The nine other finalists will also be recognized.

The Ohio State Fair Homemaker of the Year will be presented a Silver Tea Service and a cash award of $100. All finalists will receive awards.

Concerts Set At Historic Sites

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Park Service and American Landmark Festivals are giving nine weeks of free concerts, two a week at two historic sites here.

The sites are Theodore Roosevelt's birthplace, where he lived for the first 15 years of his life, and Federal Hall, a site once occupied by the Capitol of the United States, where George Washington was inaugurated as President.

Historical exhibits at the sites will be open to visitors before the concerts and during intermissions. Music will include songs by the early American composer, Frances Hopkinson, whom Washington knew and liked.

Mustang Country Staff Salutes WHS Seniors

By PAM SCHOOLEY

Westfall High School Seniors are being saluted this week by the Mustang Country Staff.

Kathy Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Smith, resides at Route 1, Mt. Sterling, and is enrolled in the business course of study at school.

Kathy actively keeps busy as a student office worker. Her hobbies include sewing, horseback riding, getting into trouble, and Larry.

Following graduation Kathy plans to get a job and to get married.

Rick Seymour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron C. Seymour, resides at Route 1, Williamsport, and is enrolled in general subjects.

Rick's hobbies are playing the guitar, listening to Eric Clapton and Alice Cooper, and drag racing.

In the future Rick plans to marry Nelda O'Dell.

Wilma Marie Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Elliott, resides at Route 2, Circleville, and is enrolled in a business course of study.

Wilma is a member of the Drama Club, Echo Staff, Ski Club, and Bowling Team. At school she is also active as a student librarian and a student secretary. She was previously a cheerleader for the junior varsity for two years. Wilma is currently second attendant for Miss Mustang, and she is presently working at the A. W. Marion State Park. In her spare time she sews, swims, bowls, and collects different kinds of fish for her aquarium.

Wilma plans to become a secretary.

Gary Wade Underwood resides at Route 1, Williamsport, and is enrolled in the vocational course of study at school.

Gary is active in the Varsity "W", Ski Club, and Bowling Team. He also works at DuPont after school hours. Gary's hobbies include karate, tennis, swimming, water-skiing, and horse-shoe pitching.

Gary would like to attend Nelsonville College to become a conservationist.

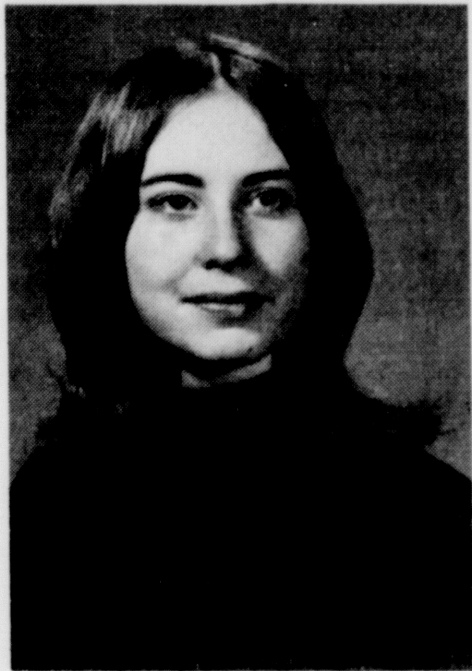

Brenda Smoot, of Route 1, New Holland, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smoot.

Brenda has majored in Home Economics at school. She is currently a member of the Chorus. Her hobbies are swimming, boating, and baby-sitting.

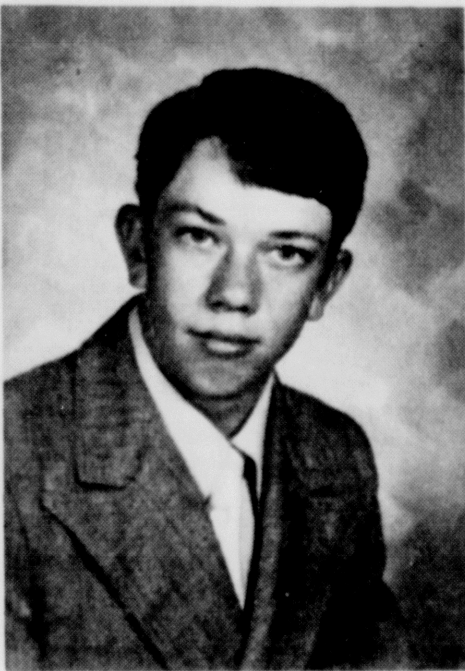

Following graduation, Brenda plans to get a job in a department store.

Steve Rittinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rittinger, resides at Route 1, Williamsport, and is enrolled in vocational courses at school.

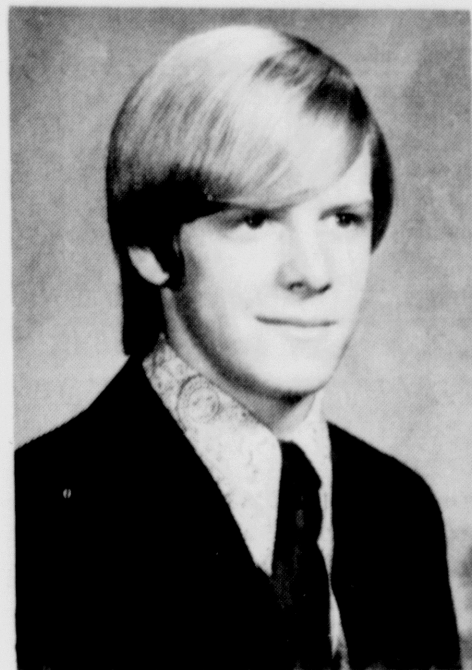

Steve has been a member of the FFA for four years, a member of the football team for one year, and a member of the Chorus for two years. He presently is serving as an officer of the FFA. Steve's hobbies include swimming, football, baseball, and cars.

Steve plans to work after graduation in May.

Kay Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Lewis, resides in Derby. She is enrolled in the general course of study.

Kay has participated in 4-H for five years. In her spare time she enjoys traveling, motorcycle riding, bowling, sewing, cooking, and collecting glass animals.

Following graduation Kay would like to get a job and buy a car. She also plans to enter a training school.

Harold J. Stage also resides in Derby and he is enrolled in the general course of study.

Jeff's activities include working after school. His hobbies are riding cycles, hiking, listening to good music, and having fun.

Jeff plans to either continue working or to possibly join the army reserve.

Kenneth Creamer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Creamer, resides at Route 2, Orient, and is enrolled in general courses.

At school Kenny participates in the writing class. His hobbies are basketball and baseball.

Awards Assembly Held At Westfall

The Awards Assembly was held May 9 at Westfall. Awards were provided for the best student in almost every class. These students were picked by the teachers of the particular classes, and awarded a gold pin at the assembly.

This year Westfall is very proud to be the recipient of the District Science Fair Trophy. This is the first year the trophy has been given. The trophy goes to the school who scores the highest in the fair and who also does the most to help with the Science Fair.

Other awards given were art awards, band and choir awards, drama awards, scholarships, home-ec. and vo. ag. awards, and attendance awards.

Congratulations to all students who received an award.

Mustang Cheerleaders Selected For 73-74

The 1973-74 Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders were recently chosen at WHS. These two squads will handle all the cheerleading duties for both football and basketball.

Jill Long, captain of the Varsity squad can now add her fourth stripe to her sweater. The other two senior members of the squad are Tina Barthen and Mickey Horn. Tina and Mickey are also four year veterans. The other three members; Cathy Alkire, Connie Drummond, and Cindy Schleich, are from the Junior class. Next year will be the third year these girls have cheered for WHS teams.

All of the Varsity girls agree that they are very happy and proud to have been chosen. They are looking forward to two great seasons and are ready to cheer their teams to victory.

The J. V. squad consists of five veterans and one rookie. Cathy Cochran and Paula Mosley, both cheering their second year, will share the captain's star. Becky Conley, Kathy Stebelton, and Ann Bowser will also add their second stripe, while Bette Roberts will be looking forward to cheering her first season at WHS. All of the squad is from the 1973-74

Sophomore class. These girls say they were surprised and happy to get the honor of representing Westfall as cheerleaders. They are looking forward to supporting the tough reserve teams that will soon make their mark at Westfall.

All of the cheerleaders are ready to support their team and they hope the students will help them build a new, better spirited following.

Britain Duels With Iceland In Cod War

BRUSSELS (AP) — The United States and 12 North Atlantic allies urged Britain and Iceland today "to exercise the utmost restraint" in their cod war.

The appeal was made at a meeting of the North Atlantic Council, made up of permanent representatives of the United States, Britain, Iceland and the other 12 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

An announcement said the council "took note" of Iceland's demand that NATO get the British government to remove its warships that are protecting British trawlers in the disputed waters Iceland is claiming outside the 12-mile limit.

The dispute between the British Conservative government and the leftist coalition headed by Prime Minister Olafur Johannesson threatens the NATO base in Iceland from which the alliance keeps track of Soviet submarines in the North Atlantic.

The demand followed the shelling Saturday of the trawler Everton by an Icelandic gunboat within the 50-mile territorial limit Iceland proclaimed last September.

Britain, West Germany and other nations whose fishermen traditionally fish those waters around Iceland reject the new 50-mile limit, saying Iceland has no right to expand its territorial waters unilaterally beyond the generally accepted 12-mile limit.

Iceland claims its vital fishing industry is threatened by foreign fishermen.

Court Backs Media

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court held Tuesday that broadcasters may not be required to accept some paid advertising on controversial public issues.

INVITATION TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Pickaway County Airport Authority at the Office of the Pickaway County Commissioners in the Court House, Circleville, Ohio, until 12 noon, E.D.T. on the 7th day of June, 1973, and publicly opened and read at 1:30 P.M. the same day for the furnishing of aircraft fuel to the Pickaway County Veterans Memorial Airport.

Quotes shall be made on grade 80 and 100 to be delivered in full or split tanker loads at the above site. A certified check for $50.00 be included as bond, refundable on delivery of first load.

The Pickaway County Airport Authority reserves the right to reject any and all bids and any awards will be made to the best bid according to law.

Students Elect President

The week of May 7 was a very busy one for the four candidates running for Student Body President. Every minute was spent furiously trying to gain votes of fellow students. Hardly a breath was taken in-between campaigning.

But all the hard work came to an end on Friday when the campaign managers introduced their candidates to the student body for their all important speeches.

All but one gave plans to help improve the appearance and atmosphere of the school. It was quite ironic that Steve Cochran, the only one who didn't make any promises or plans, was chosen as the new SBPres. Tim Hegarty will serve as V. President.

Candidates and campaign managers were: Steve Cochran, Becki Easterday manager; Tim Hegarty, Tim Brigner manager; Loretta Massey, Cindy Beatty manager; Steve Wynn, Jill Long manager.

Majorettes Selected

The 1973-74 majorettes were selected May 9.

Nancy Dean, a junior will be head majorette and her squad will consist of Kelly Steinhauer, junior; Gloria Curry, sophomore; Fonda Howard, freshman; and Debbie R. Henger, freshman.

Eight Appear In Teen Court

Juveniles appearing for traffic violations the past two weeks in Juvenile Court numbered eight.

One 17-year-old youth, Larry Gale Rowe, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was charged on five separate counts by Mt. Sterling police. Rowe was found guilty of speeding 80 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone, failure to stop for a stop sign, rapid acceleration or "peeling," fleeing a police officer and reckless operation.

For these charges, a $10 fine was imposed, but it was suspended and the youth placed on probation for one year. Rowe also lost his driving privileges for six months.

In this case, and all other traffic-related charges, the Juvenile Court imposes an order that the teen's privilege to operate a motor vehicle will not be returned until the youth can adequately prove that he has liability insurance.

John McPherson, 18, of Derby, forfeited a $20 bond on a charge filed by Franklin County authorities for stopping on I-70 to let off a hitchhiker.

For Robert R. Schreck, 16, of Lockbourne Lodge, the fine was $10 for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead. Schreck was cited in an injury accident on E. Main St. The fine was suspended but he lost his license for 30 days.

Walter Philip Coontz, 16, was cited for driving without a license. The Orient youth was ordered to pay $10 of a $50 fine and his license was restricted six months for use in work and for traffic school.

Speed was the offense of William D. Hill, 18, Ashville, and Robert R. Hart, 16, Orient. Hill, found guilty of driving 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone, had his driving privileges restricted to school and work only for a 30 day period. Hart paid a $10 fine and had a similar license restriction imposed for exceeding the speed limit by 25 miles per hour.

Failure to yield cost Dennis Compher, 17, of 1029 Washington St., a $30 fine. For causing the accident at Logan and Pickaway Sts., the youth lost his license for 60 days.

Michael K. Shaw had a $10 fine suspended, but suffered a 30-day license restriction after being found guilty of driving left of center and causing an accident on Route 316. Shaw, 17, resides at Route 2, Ashville.

Indiana Youth Held In Slaying

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Authorities here said they have withdrawn a first-degree murder charge against a Mooreland, Ind., youth to enable Indiana authorities to try him on a similar charge.

John Compton, 19, was charged with the death of Columbus Blevins, 52, of Anderson, Ind. Blevins' body was found in the Great Miami River north of here May 20. He died of a beating, authorities said.

Compton is being held in the Wayne County Jail at Richmond, Ind.

Authorities from both states met Tuesday and decided Compton should be tried in Indiana.

Musical Planned By Church Youth

The musical "One Way" will be presented by the teenagers of Northridge Church of Christ 7:30 p.m. tonight at the church.

Mystery Blobs Investigated In Dallas Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At three Dallas area homes, residents are watching a pulsating, cancerous blob of matter which mysteriously oozed from the ground, thus far defying definition.

Some 75 miles to the northwest, an armed sentry guards a graveyard where villagers say a spaceman was buried in 1897.

Investigators are holding what they say may be metal fragments from his spaceship.

The whole affair has become a science fiction buff's idea of heaven. London newspapers have been asking more information along with reporters in Canada and Australia.

Scientists and universities are investigating, also.

The mysterious membrane began oozing from the backyard of a Garland, Tex., woman two weeks ago. Marie Harris described the strange material as reddish with thick bubbles on top...blackish mucous inside. It has multiplied itself by 16 times in two weeks.

It is foamy and turns colors when punctured. When the bubbles are broken, the "blob" appears to bleed a red and purplish material.

A North Dallas woman who refused to be identified said, "I'm scared to death. I have the same thing on my hedge. I can't kill it."

Edna Smith, who lives eight miles from Seagoville, a suburb east of Dallas, said she spotted a similar mass inching its way up a telephone pole. "It was red and pulsating, like the one I read about. For heaven's sake-what is it?"

Scientists from Growth International, a Colorado firm, are analyzing the membranous matter in Mrs. Harris' yard.

GI scientist Arnold Pittman gathered spore specimens and shipped them to Colorado for laboratory tests. "Yes, it's growing. We put samples in a jar and before long we noticed pressure was building up inside," he said.

"Bacteria, if it is bacteria, have tremendous growth potential. Bacteria have more than 1,000 genes in each organism and under proper conditions can change to a complete different specie in a few seconds. Maybe that's what the thing is, a new mutation. But we really don't know what it is," he said.

Dittman said some bacteria grow from one billion spores to one billion tons in 24 hours.

"With its ability mutate, bacteria can adapt to any change or deficiency in growth conditions. I'm not saying that happens all the time," he said.

Mrs. Harris said heavy rains had obliterated the "blob" last Friday.

On Monday she said, "I looked again. Three more had grown in its place."

To the northwest, at Aurora, Tex., sightseers and newsmen are being kept away from a small cemetery.

A guard at the graveyard Monday told one newsmen, "I don't care if you're Jesus Christ. You can't come in."

Meanwhile, North Texas State University at Denton, and other schools, are examining metal fragments found where 1897 Dallas newspaper accounts say an unidentified flying object crashed.

Villages at Aurora and the Dallas newspaper reports say the badly mangled creature piloting the UFO was buried at the small cemetery now being guarded.

Professional metal and treasure hunters have examined metal fragments dug up at the site, tested and analysed them without learning their composition.

Hayden Hughes, head of the national UFO center at Oklahoma City, said Monday he plans a trip to Aurora to conduct his own investigation.

He confirmed that pieces of the unusual metal dug up at the reported crash site have been distributed to several universities for analysis.

Britons Cheer Anne's Betrothal

LONDON (AP) — The engagement of Princess Anne and Mark Phillips replaced the government sex scandal today as Britain's major news story. "The wedding is expected to be the most spectacular to be seen in Europe for many years," proclaimed the Times of London.

Down in the Wiltshire village of Great Somerford, glasses were raised until the small hours to the son of the wealthy local squire whose engagement to the only daughter of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip was announced Tuesday.

The 24-year-old soldier, horseman and commoner, the descendant of a coal miner, is expected to marry the 22-year-old princess in the fall. November, the month the queen celebrates her 26th wedding anniversary, is being mentioned as the most likely time.

The wedding will be the first for a child of the queen. Court sources said it probably will take place in Westminster Abbey following a royal procession through the streets of London.

Anne is fourth in line of succession to the British throne, behind her three brothers; and Phillips is expected to be given a title.

As soon as Anne weds, her annual stipend jumps from $37,500 a year to $87,500. Phillips earns just over $5,000 as a lieutenant in the Queen's Dragoon Guards. But his father is wealthy, and the queen is likely to help the newlyweds out with a contribution from her fortune.

Announcement of the engagement had been expected for some time, Phillips having been the princess' constant companion whenever he could get away from his regiment in West Germany.

The couple are enthusiastic horsemen and met at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, where he was a member of the British equestrian team. The romance blossomed through a series of horse meets and fox hunts.

Boy Fined For Firing Gun

A 16-year-old Circleville boy fined $50 for discharging a BB gun within the city limits was one case appearing before Juvenile Court Judge Guy Cline this month.

The boy was also ordered to make restitution and spend 15 days in detention. He was permitted to serve out his detention sentence on weekends.

An Orient area girl, 16, and a 15-year-old boy were placed on probation for three years for taking a pickup truck from a Mt. Sterling service station and driving it to Kentucky.

Probation was continued two years in the case of a 16-year-old Ashville boy charged with assault and battery from his involvement in a fight at South Bloomfield and violation of a previous probation.

Three year probation was ordered for a Teays Valley student, 16, who was cited for excessive absence from school.

Childrens Services custody was terminated for four persons. Girls, age 13, 21 and 18, were released because they were married and living in another state or had reached adulthood. A boy, 16, was released since he is now out of school and employed.

Name Is Omitted

Vicki White, a junior at Circleville, was omitted from the list of students receiving certificates for maintaining an honor roll standing throughout the entire 1972-73 school year.

KSU Jury Probe Nixed

KENT, Ohio (AP)—The parents of four Kent State University students shot and killed during a 1970 campus demonstration have protested the White House's refusal to call a federal grand jury probe of the shootings.

Presidential counsel Leonard Garment Tuesday reiterated the administration's earlier decision not to summon a grand jury because it "would either bring no indictments or bring indictments that would only end in acquittals," he said.

Garment's announcement came in reply to a second attempt by KSU students and former students to submit petitions to the administration which they said bore 50,000 signatures calling for the investigation.

COST ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE
The cost of purchased gas, based on the Company's suppliers' rates effective in the month of December, 1972, is included in the base rates of the proposed rate sheets. The proposed cost adjustment clause is presented as a separate rate sheet, to which each proposed rate sheet is appropriately referenced, rather than being repeated on each rate sheet. The proposed clause is designed to reflect increases or decreases in the Company's cost of purchased gas, including natural gas and all types of fuel used as a replacement for natural gas or in the production of a replacement for natural gas, and provides for separate calculations and applications of demand and commodity charges for each type of gas. FBI Informer Denies Radicalism

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A former University of Cincinnati student, who worked undercover for the FBI with the Weathermen, says he has been "wrongly portrayed" by the press for his role.

Larry D. Grathwohl, in a telephone interview with The Cincinnati Enquirer from his home in the San Francisco area, disputed a New York Times story and said he "feared reporters (more) than anybody else."

"That New York Times article—May 20—portrayed me as the most violent member of the organization, and I wasn't," Grathwohl said.

"I only reacted to what the Weathermen did."

Grathwohl is a key witness in upcoming trials against 16 members of the radical youth group.

"When I started with the group it was to do exactly what I did. I joined to infiltrate the Weathermen and inform the FBI because I felt they (the Weathermen) were a threat to our form of government."

Grathwohl said that the FBI forced him to continue after he joined in September, 1969. "At no time was I forced by the FBI to continue," he said.

He also denied reporting directly to Guy L. Goodwin, a justice department official who was prosecuting criminal cases against the Weathermen.

"All my reports went to the Cincinnati FBI office," he said. "I was debriefed at intervals by one agent, sometimes twice a week and sometimes once a week, sometimes by telephone and sometimes in the office."

He declined to name the agent.

Grathwohl said his involvement with the Weathermen continued until April 15, 1970, when he was arrested in New York with Linda Evans and Diane Donghi.

"This was an attempt to maintain my credibility with the Weathermen and at the same time apprehend two fugitives the FBI had warrants on. We were indicted in July 1970," he said, but the charges against him were later dropped.

Grathwohl said he became involved with the Weathermen while attending the university.

Mobile Homes Taking Brunt Of Tornado-Spawed Deaths

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The tornado's awesome power has affected thousands of Americans this spring, but none have been hit harder than those who live in mobile homes.

Deaths and destruction left by twisters and windstorms have prompted efforts to encourage both effective anchoring of mobile homes and construction of shelters by owners of mobile home parks.

Georgia, South Carolina, Texas and Ohio were the states listed by Pearson as having been hit hardest by tornadoes this year. Numerous twisters also have been reported in 14 other states.

Total property damage has not been estimated, but most experts agree a high percentage of it was suffered by mobile homes. Nationwide, almost three million mobile homes are used as a primary residence.

"Ninety per cent of all mobile home wind damage is preventable with proper anchoring," Pearson said. "But fewer than one per cent of the mobile homes I've seen have been tied down."

Pearson also suggests that shelters be constructed at mobile home parks as a precaution against bad weather, including high winds not classified as tornadoes.

Alabama Civil Defense Director C. J. Sullivan estimates mobile homes are 10 times as vulnerable to high winds as conventional homes. He noted that one person was killed and 21 injured in 32 mobile homes destroyed in storms this year in Alabama.

Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., and Rep. Lou Frey, R-Fla., have introduced the National Mobile Home Recreational Vehicle Safety Act of 1973 to make effective anchoring of mobile homes mandatory.

Four states already have tiedown legislation.

The cost of tying down a mobile home ranges from $100 to $250, according to the Mobile Living Communications in Chicago, a public service organization funded by Foremost Insurance Co.

GTE Reports Major Cable Addition

Construction is under way on a major cable addition for growth in the urban area of the Baltimore exchange, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

William D. Anderson, Circleville district customer service manager, said the $24,800 project is designed to provide for upgrading of present services and future growth in the area.

"Portions of the new cable will be used to replace the existing facilities," the manager said.

Completion of the project is scheduled late this year.

The Baltimore exchange serves 2,546 telephones in a 68.8-square-mile area of Fairfield county.

Orphaned Children Return Home Buoyed By Donations

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The four Baker children, stranded and orphaned here since the death of their father Thursday, say they'll return home to Hamilton, Ohio, Friday—thanks to Memorial Day kindness of their neighbors.

"We've got enough to go back now," said 14-year-old Marie in an interview Monday. "They've been sending money orders, checks and cash. One woman even sent $700."

The children's plight began when their father died, leaving them living in a cramped, rundown apartment. Their father's last request was to be buried beside his wife in his hometown of Hamilton, but the children had no money.

Local newspapers told their story and Marie, says enough funds have come in for her and her brothers—Bruce, 11; Mike, 10; and Dennis, 7—to return to relatives in Ohio.

"Our dad's body will be going back with us," said Marie. "He'll be buried in Greenwood Cemetery in Hamilton."

In addition to about 100 pledges of monetary contributions, three San Francisco funeral homes volunteered their services. The Comisky-Roche Funeral Home has arranged to ship the father's body.

James Schnake, an attorney from nearby Oakland, has volunteered to set up a trust for the overflow in contributions. "It seemed like somebody ought to do something," Schnake said.

The children's mother died a year ago.

GM Recalls 189 Costly Automobiles

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors said today it is recalling about 165 of its 1973 Oldsmobile Toronados and 24 of its 1973 Cadillac Eldorados to check a possible steering linkage defect.

The company said some of the cars, all produced in early May, were assembled with steering linkage ball studs made from the wrong grade of steel. GM said the studs could break, causing loss of steering control.

GM discovered the error during its assembly operations and the firm said no failures, accidents or injuries have been traced to the defect.

The first structure built at Saint John, N.B., was Fort La Tour, built in 1631.

IRA Wings Form Alliance; Summer Of Unrest Expected

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — An unexpected alliance of the Irish Republican Army's rival wings in Londonderry threatens a summer of heightened unrest in Northern Ireland's second largest city.

Leaders of the IRA's leftist Official faction and its nationalist Provisional wing met during the weekend with representatives of nonviolent nationalist groups and associates of Bernadette Devlin to plan a series of demonstrations.

The first will be a march on the Londonderry City Hall next Sunday protesting detention without trial of suspected terrorists. British paratroopers opened fire during a similar march in January 1972 and killed 13 civilians, adding the name of "Bloody Sunday" to the annals of Northern Ireland's communal warfare.

Other demonstrations on the program include a plan to rebuild the barricades around Roman Catholic areas of Londonderry for one day only—July 31. This will be the anniversary of Operation Motorman, in which the British army tore down the barricades and smashed into those IRA strongholds. They had been known as "no go" districts because until then the troops had stayed out and left the guerrillas in unchallenged control.

The deal between the rival wings of the IRA apparently was confined to Londonderry and to civil demonstrations rather than guerrilla ac-

Zoo Uses Films To Spur Births

LONDON (AP) — London's Chessington Zoo says it showed a movie of chimpanzees kissing and cuddling to a chimp named Cressida and she was "overcome with passion."

British sources believe the move stems from a desire to reassert control over the Bogsides and Creggan, Londonderry's main Catholic areas.

"Apes seem to respond in much the same way as humans to sex shows," said zoo official Andy Bowen after the experiment with a television documentary made four years ago by the British Broadcasting Corp.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

'Dreamy' Affair Could End

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a married man. It began two years ago when I worked for him. I am married and have two children, six and eight. My husband is a nice guy, but nothing special. We don't communicate at all anymore. His whole life is sports.

Abby, I want more than anything else in the world to have my lover's child because I know I can never have him. He says he loves me, but he will never leave his wife because he loves her, too in a different way. Also, he says having an affair is one thing, but he doesn't believe in breaking up another man's home.

I have expressed my desire to have his child, but he says it would be the worst thing I could do to myself. I don't agree with him. I feel that if our affair ends-as most affairs do, at least I will have a part of him to remember him by. Who would that be hurting as long as nobody but us knew it?

MY DREAM

DEAR MY: Your "dream" sounds like a plot for a grade "B" movie. Wake up! You're courting disaster with such hazardous notions.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I invited a friend to dine with us at a family restaurant to celebrate her birthday. Across from us sat a couple, their son, who looked about 4 years old, and another adult.

The child talked loudly and incessantly. At one point he amused himself by loudly saying the ABC's over and over, making it impossible for us to converse.

When our guest went to the restroom, the boy followed her and tried to get in. Fortunately the door was locked. The boy's parents witnessed the whole thing and didn't say a word. After our guest vacated the restroom, the boy didn't go in, which indicated he didn't have to use it, he only wanted to annoy her.

That child ruined our evening. When we left we spoke to the owner about it and he said the parents and that child ate there often and there was nothing he could do about it.

Please print this to let parents know that they should either train their children to behave in public or leave them at home. They have no right spoiling an evening out for others.

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: Parents of ill-mannered children don't care whose evening they spoil. You should have complained directly to the parents or to the management earlier in the evening, and when it became clear that nobody cared, you should have gone elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed "IGNORED" wrote to complain that her husband made it plain that he preferred the TV set to her, and you replied: "Maybe it's because he can turn off the TV when he wants to."

You should have added that he can also turn the TV "ON" when he wants to.

ROBERT B.

DEAR ROBERT: I would have, had I thought of it. Thanks for the assist! CONFIDENTIAL TO "GOT THE BLUES": Chin up, honey. A big disappointment today could be a blessing in disguise tomorrow.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to AB-BY: Box No 69700, L.A. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Sohio Starts Up Closed Refinery

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The Standard Oil Co. (Sohio) began reopening its huge Lima oil refinery this morning, hoping to boost the facility back to full production by Friday and begin cutting into Ohio gasoline shortages, Sohio said.

Sohio also kicked off a statewide advertising campaign today, aimed at helping motorists increase mileage and thus conserve fuel.

The company announced gasoline rationing for all its customers, including drivers who pull into service stations, through July 1 last week when the refinery failed to reopen after a scheduled maintenance shutdown.

Sohio representatives noted that the gasoline rationing still will run through June, even after the refinery gets back into peak production, about 3.5 million gallons of gasoline a day.

Sohio's 10-gallon per purchase limits at service stations and wholesale rationing imposed by Sunoco and Marathon apparently caused little trouble for Memorial Day weekend motorists, however. A sampling of dealers indicated that drivers were able to adjust.

"The people have come to their senses," reported one Cleveland service station owner. Some panic buying was reported early in the weekend, but business trickled back to normal by Sunday.

"They realize the shortage will be with us a while and that they can't hog gas," he said.

Sohio sales total about a fourth of the Ohio gasoline market, although its Boron brand is sold in Michigan, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia. Boron stations number about 600, while there are 2,800 Sohio retail outlets, the company said.

The company said the Lima refinery had been scheduled to close down late in April and reopen May 19. Sohio said a series of additional problems cropped up in mid-May, however, and kept the refinery closed.

Sohio representatives said that some oil would begin moving through the intricate piping this morning but that "it doesn't start up like a fan. It's going to take some time to get into operation."

The plant has a rated processing capacity of 130,000 barrels a day, although the company said it had been running as high as 170,000 barrels before the shutdown.

About 50 per cent of the total is turned into gasoline, with the rest used for heating oils, kerosene, jet fuel and other petroleum products. The slightly smaller Toledo refinery processes up to 120,000 barrels a day with about 70 per cent used for gasoline. That refinery's daily production normally is about 3.9 million gallons of gasoline, Sohio said.

Sohio said the maintenance shutdowns are required every two to 2½ years. Sohio said it contracts with another company's refinery to cover the closings but that the contract did not cover the delayed opening.

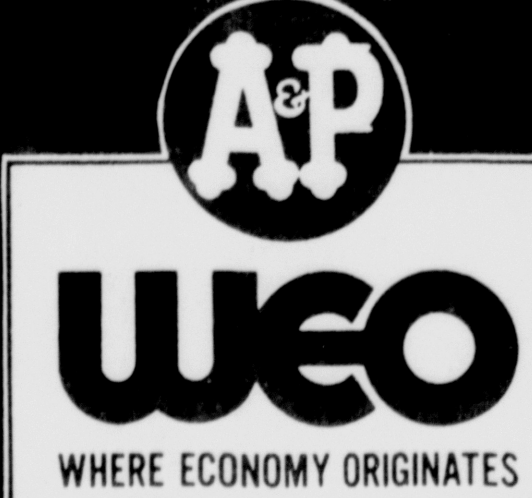

Rep. Frank Mayfield Convicted Of DWI

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— State Rep. Frank H. Mayfield Jr., R-65 Cincinnati, 23, Tuesday was convicted of driving while intoxicated after changing his plea in Municipal Court from innocent to no contest.

Judge Rupert Doan deferred sentencing a month after ordering Mayfield to participate in a program run by the Alcohol Safety Action Project.

Put the XB65 to work on everything from striped to robos. Enjoy the feel of its ball bearing drive that turns brassy brass gears smooth and easy. A solid aluminum body and reel with baked-on maximum finish gives double protection — it's darn near impossible for rust or corrosion to get a foot hold. Look on the spool for more aluminum. It's parallel impregnated and anodized with a line capacity of 385 yards of 8-lb. test monofilament. On the stainless steel reel assembly there's a hard-ribbed brass roller guide to prevent line fraying. The XB65 weighs only 13 1/2 ounces and has an ultra-fast 4:1 retrieve ratio. The handle folds for easy storage. It's a well-built reel with quality spooling. Zebco guarantees it.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute
GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a slow start you find the latter part of the day is fine to think out a new course of action under which you can operate in the days ahead. Fine time for gaining the information you need. Take care of communications.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Handle your obligations in a most intelligent way and plan to make the future more profitable. State your ideas to others and gain their cooperation so they can be more successful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Talks with monetary experts can bring the advice you need and will require careful study later on. Make plans to improve whatever property you may own. Take it easy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are thinking very clearly now and can solve puzzling matters quickly. Attend the social affairs that can help you meet those persons who can help you advance in your career.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make plans how to properly channel your increased business affairs. You need to be alone with mate more if you are to have harmony. Make repairs in your home.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Showing good friends that you really like them is important now, since they need bolstering up. Repaying social obligations is wise. Show others you are a worthwhile person to know.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Engage in civic work that can bring you the goodwill of bigwigs who can be helpful in your business. Learn to say no to whatever is wrong and against your wishes. Be resolute.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Find the right ways and means through which to advance in the near future. You can easily obtain the data you need from a new contact. Make the evening a happy one with close ties.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have unusual vision now and should use it to advance in your career. Come to a better understanding with mate so that there can be greater happiness and prosperity in the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ask associates questions and know what is expected of you and then try to please them. Discuss past agreements so there is better understanding. Do something thoughtful for mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't permit others to take you away from the important work you have to do today. Persevere and you win. Do some shopping for apparel that will improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Schedule your time cleverly so you can get your work done quickly and well. Use those talents you possess and become a very popular person. Taking health treatments is wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) The morning could be dreary but later you will feel more enthused and bright-eyed. Take time to plan a wiser foundation for your life. Do some entertaining in the evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those intelligent young people who needs careful guidance and should be taught to complete whatever tasks that have been started, otherwise your progeny could become a jack of all trades and master of none. Send to the right schools, and then this becomes a most successful chart. Give the right kind of spiritual training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — This month's televised Watergate hearings posed two problems for the world of daytime TV. One was a small but growing backlog of game shows and soap operas taped in advance of their actual appearance on the tube.

That problem was two-thirds solved Friday when the three networks agreed on a trial arrangement in which only NBC will carry start-to-finish live coverage of next Tuesday's hearings; CBS will take over the next day and ABC Thursday.

The second problem still exists and is far more serious. Network staffs remain on red alert to keep in correct sequence the daily soap operas pre-empted by live TV coverage of the hearings.

It would never do for a soap opera couple to end the day's saga with pledges of eternal love, only to reappear after three days of Watergate hearings embroiled in a fistfight over child custody.

When the hearings aren't on, the CBS, NBC and ABC networks are broadcasting a total of 31 soap operas and game shows each weekday — 15 soapers and 16 games per day.

All but two are taped in advance — one day to two weeks for the soap operas, a week to a month for the game shows — and network officials late last week said production of them still is proceeding apace.

It means that with a few exceptions, each day the Watergate show is televised live, another batch of daytime shows is backing up in the vaults.

With only five televised hearings so far, the videotape

March Farm Exports $1.4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices and larger shipments of wheat and feed grain helped boost U.S. farm exports to a record of $1.4 billion during March, the Agriculture Department says.

Calling the dollar value of shipments "an astonishing record," the department said Tuesday the March total was up 20 per cent from last February and double the level of March 1972.

For the first nine months of the fiscal year which began last July 1, farm exports through March were valued at an alltime high of $8.89 billion.

The figures were published by the Economic Research Service in its monthly report on foreign agricultural trade.

The report said that since last summer, when big sales of grain to the Soviet Union emerged, the actual quantity of farm shipments rose sharply and accounted for about 60 per cent of the increase in value.

But sharply higher prices for some items added the remainder, the report said.

"Wheat, for example, averaged $1.90 per bushel during July-March ... compared with $1.68 a year earlier," the report said.

Feed grains averaged slightly over $61 per metric ton, compared with $54 a year earlier, and rice averaged $223 a ton, compared with $183 a year earlier, officials said.

The report noted the dollar figures were for the export value of products at U.S. ports and included inland freight and other charges to get it to shipping points.

Through March, exports to the Soviet Union this fiscal year totaled $589 million, compared with $82 million a year earlier.

"Much of this gain was accounted for by wheat shipments which totaled over $337 million through March of fiscal 1973, compared with less than $1 million a year earlier, the report said.

In all, Russia bought wheat, feed grain and soybeans estimated at about $1.1 billion for delivery in the year ending June 30.

Thus, according to the figures in the report, more than 40 per cent of the total still remained to be shipped at the end of March.

The report said about half of the wheat and feed grains sold to Russia for delivery in 1972-73 actually had been shipped by March 31.

Despite transportation difficulties, only "minor portion of the purchases for fiscal 1973" may not move to Russia until after July 1, the report said.

Gilligan Administration Fights Restrictions On Food Stamps

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Gilligan administration campaign is underway to prevent the federal government from withholding food stamps from the aged, blind and disabled welfare recipients, according to State Welfare Director Charles Bates.

Bates, at a Wednesday morning news conference, said the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program, which is to take effect Jan. 1, is discriminatory and would create hardships.

"A painful inequity will occur if food stamps are withheld from needy adults simply because they receive all or part of their monthly income from SSI," Bates said.

"This inequity will be created because other low-income people will continue to be eligible to receive food stamps," the director said.

Bates said that under the new plan a person with a monthly Social Security benefit of $160 could be eligible for food stamps, while a person with a monthly Social Security income of $125 plus a $5-a-month income from SSI would be ineligible.

A low income person below age 65 might be eligible to receive food stamps while a person with the same amount of income who is 65 or older could be ineligible for food stamps if he received all or part of his income from SSI, according to Bates.

The director said Ohio's congressional delegation has been informed by letter of the Gilligan Administration's position to restore food stamp eligibility to SSI participants before the program takes effect.

"We feel very strongly that this correction should be made at the federal level since the problem was created there," Bates said.

YMCA Swim Classes Scheduled

YMCA Swimming classes are scheduled to start June 18, according to Harold Hewitt, YMCA director.

The expanded 1973 program will include the pre-school water familiarization class (Tadpoles), a beginners (Minnows), intermediates (Fish), and advanced intermediate (Flying Fish).

Classes, according to the Y director, will run two days per week for four weeks. The first session, he said, is June 18 to July 13, and the Second Session is July 16 to August 10.

All YMCA's carrying a physical education certificate and conducting swimming classes, are required, as of January 1, 1973, to use only YMCA Certified Aquatic Instructors and material.

Mrs. Robert Liggett, Hewitt said, has just completed a 30 hour YMCA Instructional Certified Course at the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA, for qualification.

Since the YMCA classes are limited to 12 students per class, registration is scheduled on a first come, first serve basis. It is possible to complete two classifications. Pre-registration is a must. No phone reservations will be taken.

This summer, Hewitt said, permanent records will be kept on each student, so that in preceeding years he or she will know exactly what class they should be in. Passing of the various classes will entitle the student to an attractive cloth patch.

In addition to the Y Swimming Program, Hewitt said, a new series of short term classes and clinics will be offered during the summer months.

The girls, are advanced gymnastic classes which will be offered by Jill Weldon, instructor and will include instructions on uneven parallel bars, side horse, balance beam and advanced floor exercises.

Also to be added in the girl's summer schedule is girls basketball, movement education, baton clinic, boys and girls archery and girls softball.

For boys, the summer program includes short term basketball classes, in July under the instructions of David Little. Short term co-ed tennis instructions will be offered in July by Little, Hewitt said.

Day Camp, he said, will be offered for the fifth summer. There will be three sessions - the first July 9-13, second July 16-20, and the third session July 23-27. Y Day Camp is open to all boys and girls, ages 6 through 12, and includes a variety of activities at Camp Miska and Camp Penn.

Also scheduled in the YMCA Summer activities are a series of trips for boys and girls ages, 8 through 14.

Brochures on all of the YMCA Summer Activities can be obtained by calling the YMCA Office at 474-8621.

G&H Farms To Show At NAC Classic

Norman Godden, G & H Research Farm, Route 4, will be showing and selling cattle at the upcoming 6th Annual North American Charolais Classic at the Ohio State Fairgrounds, Columbus. It is a nationally known event in the cattle world.

This year's Classic show and sale will include a selection of 65 females and 10 bulls from 38 consigners representing 14 states. The Classic's ever-popular show will be held Friday afternoon, June 8, and the sale at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, the 9th. This year's selection will include full French bulls and females, half French, polled and domestic blood lines.

The North American Charolais Classic would not be complete without the Multi-Million Dollar Bull-O-Vard. This year's selection includes 22 of the nation's top Charolais sires to be displayed in Columbus representing 22 different exhibitors from a dozen states.

The Classic will also stage it's Annual Gay 90's Party on Friday evening at the Scots Inn, Classic headquarters. All who attend will enjoy a delicious dinner of prime rib and an evening of entertainment that would equal any night club in the Midwest.

The North American Charolais Classic show and sale is sponsored jointly by the Ohio State Charolais Association and the Ohio Department of Agriculture. Show premiums total in excess of $10,000.

Stolen Car Returned

A car stolen in Circleville early Wednesday morning from the rear of 364 E. Union St. was returned a few hours later.

Dorothy Arledge was making a report of the stolen vehicle to police 3:30 a.m. when she noticed the car being parked at the rear of her residence. A suspect jumped from the car and fled into an alley. She told police the car was parked about 11 p.m. Tuesday and she noticed it was missing shortly before calling the department.

Hungry Thieves Hit Local Bar

A burglary at Frank's Bar, 116 S. Court St., was discovered by city police early Wednesday morning.

Ptl. Ron Smith and Mike Rinehart were on routine patrol 5:26 a.m. when they spotted a back window knocked out in the building.

A check revealed that 14 bottles of whiskey, a dozen pizzas and approximately five dozen sandwiches were missing.
